

University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) is pleased to announce Associate Professor Timothy Hemsath and architectural doctoral candidate Kaveh Alagheh Bandhosseini have published through Routledge an insightful, research-driven book packed with hundreds of simulated illustrations entitled “Energy Modeling in Architectural Design”.

This ground-breaking book provides the reader with detailed energy-saving, design ThjB sd0h0 -02rhTgjTurkssignl.iara 2Tt0b reSledge an insightful, reseauhrgk-1.0m

July

NORTH CAROLINA STATE COLLEGE OF ARCHITECTURE
CEAT Dean Paul Tikalsky on matters related to academic outcomes, standards, scheduling and accreditation. Randy E. Eriksen as Head of the School of Architecture continues to serve him well in understanding the workings of the university and anticipating the needs of units in the College. As Head and a Professor in the School of Architecture, Randy continued in the summer European Studies Program and as a design studio director whenever possible. In addition to his administrative duties, Randy was responsible for securing the Donald Reynolds Foundation grant that made the renovation and addition to the Architecture Building possible. The building received an AIA Oklahoma Honor Award for its design in 2014. Because of his longstanding involvement in architectural education and his service to the AIA in Oklahoma.

Randy was elevated to FAIA in 2014.

ACSA News Digest is published monthly and is distributed digitally to all full-time faculty in ACSA member schools via the ACSA Update membership email. These Regional School items were originally published on the ACSA website, which offers extensive coverage of member schools activities updated daily.

Visit www.acsa-arch.org/acsa-news/read for more news.

© Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture 2016-17.